One of the most well-known financial astrologers is W.D. Gann. Gann developed a number of trading methods based on planetary and lunar movements, which he claimed could be used to forecast market cycles.

In his book Wiley Trading 561, Gann outlines his methods for forecasting market cycles. He uses a combination of planetary and lunar movements, as well as other factors such as price and volume, to identify potential turning points in the market.

Gann's methods are complex and require a deep understanding of astrology. However, there is some evidence to suggest that they can be effective. In one study, researchers found that Gann's methods were able to predict the direction of the S&P 500 index with 60% accuracy.

Whether or not you believe in financial astrology, there is no doubt that planetary and lunar movements can have an impact on our lives. The moon, for example, is known to affect the tides and human behavior. It is therefore not unreasonable to assume that it may also have an influence on the financial markets.

If you are interested in learning more about financial astrology, there are a number of resources available online. You can also find a number of trading courses that teach Gann's methods.
